MOBILITY OF YOUTH WORKERS

Learning mobility projects of youth workers support the professional development of youth workers by enabling them to acquire new skills and professional experiences. The projects may include transnational activities such as seminars, training courses, contact-making events, study visits and job shadowing periods abroad. The projects also contribute to strengthening the quality and the role of youth work in Europe.

Erasmus+ is the European Union's programme for boosting skills and employability through education, training, youth, and sport. Youth activities under Erasmus+ aim to improve the key competences, skills and employability of young people, promote young people's social inclusion and well-being, and foster improvements in youth work and youth policy at local, national and international level.

This document certifies that Aghasi Grigoryan took part in a project called Become More Outdoor. It was a seminar. The project was hosted by Academy for Peace and Development. The participation was supported by Youth Cooperation Centre of Dilijan.

A seminar organised within the Erasmus+ Programme aims to provide a platform for discussion and exchange on the important issues in European youth work or youth policy. Supported by one or more facilitators and often also theoretical inputs, participants contribute to discussions about the development of youth work or youth policy, and exchange good practice on the chosen theme.

Altogether, 24 people from Armenia, Georgia, Latvia, Moldova, Poland, Romania, Turkey, and Ukraine took part in the project.

The overall aim and specific objectives of the project:

-to build a common understanding on outdoor activities as an effective source for non-formal learning and youth work;
-to introduce the main theories of outdoor activities and how they relate to youth work;
-to develop technical skills in outdoor activities as well as to discover their quality aspects and how they are related to inclusion, active participation and healthy life-style;
-to build skills in designing and facilitating outdoor activities.

Main contents and activities of the project:

The main idea of the seminar was to give participants the chance to learn by own experience and to gain knowlege, skills and motivation for future activities.
During the seminar a wide mix of NFL methods were used including discussions, sharing of experiences and opinions, interactive presentations, own-reflection, creation of own educational tools, developing future project ideas, 24 h expedition, developing technical skills on surviving in nature including cooking, preparing accommodation.
